Key Conference On Athletics Recommends Proposals

Dr. Samenfeld (right) listens intently as Mr. R. Fridlington reports the Athletic Committee's recommendations.

President Bill Price, Bob Baxter and John Freeman ponder MAA autonomy.

By KEVIN ALTON

A key meeting was held at the Town & Campus Restaurant last Thursday in an effort to clear up the two year MAA hassle.

The meeting was organized through the efforts of Bill Price, President of Student Organization, and the Student-Faculty Committee on Athletics. Mr. Price felt that the "conference was needed to aid in student-faculty communications, and would give a representative consensus from primary power groups on campus." The daylong conference was held in an informal atmosphere without moderator or the presence of press coverage.

Members in attendance at the conference were the standing members of the Student-Faculty committee on Athletics, the Executive Board of Student Council, Dr. Benson, Mr. Eugene Fixler, Mrs. Kortjohn, Mrs. Dagit, Dean Samenfeld, William Loehning, Peter Feeney, and Bob Baxter.

The proposal submitted by the Student-Faculty Committee on Athletics called for the "organization and administration of athletics and related activities at N.S.C." The following is the basic content of the proposals recommended to the Student-Faculty Committee:

A. The Student-Faculty Committee on Athletics will oversee the men's and women's athletics, sports clubs, dance and outdoor recreation, and will be organized as follows:

1. Four faculty members (two men, two women) selected by the faculty senate with not more than two being from that body.
2. Four Students (two men, two women) selected by Student Council, with not more than two being members of that body.

3. Chairman of the Dept. of Health and Physical Education will serve as secretary, ex officio.

B. The Director of Men's Athletics will be appointed by the President of the College in consultation with the Dept. of Health and Physical Education, and will report to the Dept. of Health and Physical Education, maintaining a liaison relationship with the Assistant to the President. He will be responsible for the total program of men's extracurricular athletics and will have the assistance of a student advisory board.

C. The Director of Men's Intramurals will be appointed by the Director of Men's Athletics and will be responsible to the Director of Athletics. He will supervise the men's intramural program and will be assisted by a student Intramural Council.

D. The programs of men's and women's extracurricular athletics will be financed by a per capita assessment of student funds. The Director of Men's Athletics, Men's Intramurals and the WRA will compile broad line budgets for the programs projected for the following year and will be submitted to the

Nicolesceu To Receive Teaching Contract

In an interview Monday, Mr. Alec Nicolesceu of the Fine Arts Department reported that he had been notified that he will receive a teaching contract for the next academic year. With the signing of this contract Mr. Nicolesceu will immediately receive tenure as ruled by state law.

Last December, both Art and non-Art Majors focused their efforts to pressure the administration to retain the Art teacher. They wrote letters and signed petitions in favor of his retention.

Mr. Nicolesceu stated that he was "very grateful" for the student support, and felt that it "did the job." He also remarked that "a lot of my colleagues helped me very much."

President Eugene Wilkins, in offering Mr. Nicolesceu a contract, reversed his earlier decision.

Three newly organized committees of the Faculty Senate recommended to the President that Mr. Nicolesceu be retained. They were: The Art Department Promotion, Retention, and Tenure Committee; the Faculty Senate PRT Committee, and the Appeals Committee.

(NJEA Reporter) — Four State College presidents have banded together in support of fiscal autonomy for the state colleges in New Jersey — a move previously called for by NJEA in its fiscal autonomy bill, S-306.

The four presidents, Robert Huessler, Trenton S.C.; Thomas Richardson, Montclair S.C.; James Olsen, Paterson S.C.; and James Muller, Jersey City S.C.; want to serve the State colleges with the same autonomy now extended to Rutgers and Newark College of Engineering.

SCATE Undertakes Massive Reorganization Program

Bob Reid has assumed the position of Acting Chairman of the Student Committee for Advancement through Education, due to the illness of Chairman Greg Young. Mr. Young is acting in advisory capacity to SCATE.

Mr. Reid has announced that SCATE will undertake a massive reorganization program at the end of the current semester. There is a need for some one to fill Bob's former position of Program Coordinator, and it is hoped that an underclassman will be able to assume this responsibility.

In December, Mr. Reid and Harry Clark, the Public Relations Director of SCATE, contacted Reverend King, Director of the E'port Presbyterian Center, and arranged for SCATE tutors to assist at the center.

Sixteen SCATE representatives will tutor 32 children at this center in Elizabeth on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays. Mr. Reid has stated that SCATE members will be in total control of the Center during those three days. It is expected that the

State College Presidents Band Together For Fiscal Autonomy

NJEA's legislation means more flexibility as well as autonomy to boards of trustees, college administrators, and faculty members.

Presently, trustees are prohibited from directing and controlling salary policies, expenditures, entering into contracts and agreements, or purchasing lands, buildings, equipment, materials, and supplies.

S-306 calls for greater trust extended to boards of trustees college presidents and administrators. "One of the most essential tools is the authority to spend moneys appropriated as the board of trustees and college presidents and administrators judge fit," the bill says.

The restrictions imposed on State College trustees prompted President Huessler to quote a Trenton S.C. trustee as saying he felt like a "clerk."

Unlike Rutgers, the six State Colleges are also forced to get Budget Office approval for all

All-College Assembly

The first Student Organization All-College Assembly for this year will be held Thursday, January 9, in the Theatre for the Performing Arts.

According to President Bill Price, the assembly will review the business transacted by the student council thus far this year and its plans for the remainder of the year. Problems of the M.A.A. and football team are expected to be discussed.

Ro Hasner Gives Of Herself In SCATE Tutorial Program

We are all given a chance in our lives to sit back and say, "I really have a lot more than some people in this world." Given a chance to do something about it, some of us try, but many others say, "Sorry, I just don't have the time."

Ro Hasner is presently a freshman at Newark State College. During the first days at N.S.C., she was told that one of the most important things about college was getting involved. S.C.A.T.E. gave that chance.

She's now tutoring at the Humanity Baptist Church in Newark's Central Ward. The children there are 10, 11, and 13 years old. She tutors every Tuesday and considers it really something special. "Looking back at my first day, I feel ashamed and sorry."

"I walked into the Church so frightened that my color was green. I wasn't sure if I was really afraid of the children or of all the stories that I had heard. My fears left me when one of the children asked if I would be his teacher. I realized then, that these children were eager to make a better life for themselves. I also realized that the color of our skin or the difference in the way we spoke would never affect our relationship."

The children come from a poor area in Newark. Every day they have lunch at the church, donated by the members of the congregation. "On this particular Tuesday, Rev. Simmons told the children to come back at three o'clock because the students from Newark State College were coming to help them."

The children were ready and prepared to work. On the first day N.S.C. tutors were assigned three students from the fifteen present on the first day. As the tutoring continued new students were received. Today there are about twenty-five students. They all lack the basic fundamentals for a proper education. These skills range from reading to spelling.

The students Ro teaches have a great many problems that plague them every day. "There are many times we don't do school work but just sit and talk." To these three youngsters, she is a listening ear as well as a helping hand. "I feel I have given nothing to them compared to the chance they gave me to find myself."

"The week before our winter recess," she noted, "we had a Christmas Party including all the trimming as well as presents for everyone. This was the only way we could say 'Thank you' to the greatest twenty-five youngsters we know. And I can honestly say that this was the first real Christmas of giving that I have ever had, because I gave of myself all that I could to those special children."

Have you found what you really are, or don't you have the time? Be all that you really can be, Ro advises, because all it takes is one or two hours a week and the willingness to help.

SCATE Undertakes

weekday programs will be devoted to educational improvement, and that recreational activities will be held on Saturdays.

SCATE has requested an appropriation of $150,000 from the NSC finance board to be used for games, materials, books, and other supplies which would be essential at the Center. All materials purchased would be controlled by the SCATE tutors and would be carefully safeguarded. Mr. Reid hopes that if this endeavor proves successful, it will open the way for SCATE to have its own tutorial center, possibly in a storefront in the near future.

During the semester break, Mr. Reid plans to make arrangements to broaden SCATE's community service to include a program in Newark. The Acting Chairman feels that this would not interfere with the current tutorial service in Elizabeth. Mr. Reid would like to limit the tutors in Elizabeth to those places in which they are truly needed, and to send a good number of tutors to Newark.

In September, SCATE had enlisted some 350 tutors from Newark State. Some of these, however, have dropped out of the program and others have lost interest.

During the first week of February, the seven member of the SCATE Executive Board will conduct a drive to enroll new members. Students interested in becoming tutors will be asked to fill out applications at that time. Mr. Reid hopes that some 150 to 200 students who want to be ACTIVELY involved in the SCATE program, and are willing to work, will volunteer.

SCATE plans to initiate a tutorial service for junior high and high school students, thereby permitting Newark State's secondary majors an opportunity to gain experience. Mr. Reid also hopes to enlist the aid of three child psychologists, who are members of the NSC faculty, as well as some members of the Education Dept. to assist in the SCATE program. Mr. Reid announced that anyone who is interested in the Teacher Corps may obtain detailed information and an application at the SCATE office.

Conference Recommends

Student-Faculty Committee on Athletics for approval.

William Loehning, junior council representative, felt that the conference was "one of the most productive meetings ever held at NSC in that students and faculty came to agreement on an issue that has raged on campus for as far back as five years."

Peter Feeney, senior council member, was "particularly impressed with the way students presented their views as when the Student-Faculty Committee on Athletics comes out with the final report it will be acceptable to all parties concerned." In addition

Mr. Feeney felt "that the conference reflected a general attitude of optimism and good faith."

The Student-Faculty Committee on Athletics proposal is tentatively scheduled to be discussed at the All-College Assembly to be held today at 1:30 and will face the council floor on Friday, January 10, 1969.

Merck Named To Board of Trustees

Student Profiles:

Joe Streit, IFSC President

By DAVE LICHTENSTEIN AND BRIAN KOSTECK

Joe Streit is the incumbent president of I.F.S.C. (Intra Fraternity — Sorority Council). A senior, he has also participated as a member of Student Organization and a brother of Nu Delta Pi fraternity.

In the following interview he discusses the role of the fraternity on campus as well as explaining the functions and responsibilities of I.F.S.C. INDEPENDENT: What originally attracted you to fraternity life?

STREIT: First of all, I wanted to become part of an organization which would be of great service to the college. And secondly, I was anxious to experience for myself the feeling of fraternity brotherhood.

INDEPENDENT: In your opinion, what is, or what should be, the role of the fraternity on campus?

STREIT: The most important functions of the fraternity (sorority) should be to develop a harmonious atmosphere of brotherhood, and to serve together for the betterment of the college.

At present, however, I feel that fraternities and sororities have an over-inflated sense of importance and are too concerned with isolated power struggles. The purpose of the fraternity is defeated when it becomes a power structure.

INDEPENDENT: Do you really think that such a 'power struggle' exists?

STREIT: Yes, to the extent that fraternities and sororities refuse to sacrifice their own power and give as much time as possible for contributing to the good of the community.

And this does not mean contributing to the community for the sole purpose of receiving honors, trophies, or publicity, either, but as an honest effort for unity and betterment. Right now the present fraternity-sorority structure is a confederation, rather than a closely operating and much stronger co-operating group.

INDEPENDENT: How do you feel about hazing?

STREIT: In general, it is worthwhile because as an initiation it gives the group some value. However, this year it did get a little out of hand and resulted in bad publicity for the entire college.

Frankly, I would much rather see a 'Help' week than a 'Hell' week. For instance, all the fraternity-sorority pledges could work together on a constructive community projects such as cleaning up a poverty area or contributing something in a joint effort to the campus itself. But we must get away from many of the senseless things now happening.

INDEPENDENT: Do you feel that the role of the fraternity is gradually changing, perhaps even decreasing in importance?

STREIT: Yes. Greeks are not as powerful as they once were. The student body has become more aware of problems outside of school and contribute their energy in other areas.

One of the reasons for this is that people claim they "came to school to make friends, not to lose the many you do by joining an isolated group." And not only on this campus but throughout the country, locals are completely folding up. Unless strengthened by concerted effort, our Greek system will slip as well.

The main problem is that Greeks are not getting together for a common good — they seem to want power only for themselves. But they don't realize that to stay alive they will need a large unified group.

Alpha Phi Omega Frat. NSC Reading Clinic Opens Doors

On Dec 27, 28, and 29 three members of the Upsilon Delta Chapter No. 484 of Alpha Phi Omega National Service Fraternity at Newark State College attended the 20th National Convention at the Shoreham Hotel in Washington, D.C. In attendance were Thomas F. Bartik; President, Richard J. Poston; 2nd Vice President, and David R. Rieger; Public Relations Chairman. Over 2,000 members from all 50 states and Puerto Rico gathered as delegates to the convention of this largest fraternity in the world with 110,000 members.

Of considerable interest throughout the Convention was the flight of NASA's Apollo 8 and Astronaut-Captain James A. Lovell, U.S.N. APO Alumnus of Beta Theta Chapter '47, University of Wisconsin-Madison. During the closing banquet on Sunday, December 29, it was disclosed to that fraternity that among the personal belongings carried around the moon by Captain Lovell were the Service Arm Band and Insignia of the Fraternity.

The Newark State College Reading Clinic will be able to help approximately 50 children with reading difficulties this spring, Dr. Samuel Lourie, director, announces.

In order for a child to be enrolled at the clinic, it is necessary to:

- 1) Obtain a statement from the child's school indicating the need for special help in reading and,
- 2) Bring the child to a screening interview at the clinic.

Screening interviews are scheduled for Monday, and Wednesday, between 4 and 5:30 P.M. No appointment is required. Children are to be accompanied by an adult and brought to the Child Study Center at the college.

Clinic sessions are once a week for one hour and are on an individual basis. Teachers are closely-supervised graduate students in advanced training for diagnosis and treatment of reading disabilities. Cost for the spring semester is $35 per child.

transfer of funds and minor purchases.

NJEA urged that fiscal autonomy be built into the reorganization plan that led to the establishment of the Department of Higher Education. While all other NJEA suggestions were taken into account in the legislation that created the new Department, fiscal autonomy was the only major NJEA provision not included.

Hard opposition was leveled to any change by the Budget Office. In fact, State Budget officers regretted the freedom granted the State University and said they hoped to bring Rutgers under their control.

S-306 is sponsored by Senators John L. White (R 3rd, Camden, Gloucester, Salem), Frederick H. Hauser (D. 12th Hudson) and Norman Tanzman (D. 7th Middlesex).

The presidents' alliance is expected to give the NJEA bill more emphasis in the Legislature. S-306 is a key 1969 NJEA legislative objective.

In announcing the president's move, Huessler says he is prepared to discuss the matter with the Council of State Colleges.

Huessler said he may ask the Council — composed of presidents and chairman of boards of trustees of the individual colleges — to adopt a resolution declaring the state colleges as more capable of running their affairs than the Department of Higher Education.

American Youth: Its Outlook Is Changing the World

The subject of this month's issue of Fortune magazine

Much has been said, and much has been published, about today's "alienated" youth and society. But to some extent, two important questions remain unanswered: Is this, indeed, a special kind of younger generation? If so, what will be its impact on U.S. life over the next decade?

To find the answers to these questions, Fortune has devoted most of its January issue to Youth and Its View of America. Here, in a single issue of Fortune, is perhaps the most thorough and searching analysis of the topic ever presented by a magazine. Some of the areas on which this special study focuses:

- Why student activists demand reforms
- The revolution on the square campus
- Youth and the pop culture cult
- Parents of the Forties
- What blue-collar youth thinks
- A new style of campus living
- How youth is reforming business

Don't miss this special, single-subject January issue of Fortune. It's on sale now!

"Truth cannot be forced but must be allowed to plead for itself."

The Closed Door

During the past week, the Student-Faculty Committee on Athletics held a special meeting called by Student Body President, Bill Price, to attempt to finally resolve the MAA situation. The committee met in the Town and Campus in an all day conference costing $300.

That the cost of the conference is exorbitant is noted by the INDEPENDENT; that the meeting took place off campus when there are plenty of facilities at considerably lower cost is also noted by the INDEPENDENT. However, the true justification of the expenditures is the acceptance of workable and profitable athletic proposals by all parties.

The INDEPENDENT has a real objection to the barring of all members of the press from the meeting.

The valiant members of the committee maintain that the press has an inhibitory effect upon their thinking. This could be true, but the press has also been banned from other previous informal meetings which have produced little concrete foundation for the settling of the problem. The press cannot be blamed for this inhibition.

Another argument against the presence of the press is that information might be misconstrued and become distorted by the very true. It is quite possible that a reporter might misquote one of the learned members of the committee, or misunderstand one of the complicated proposals regarding the most forbidding aspects of the MAA structure. However, now is the time to crystalize the proposals and clarify the misunderstandings. Now is the time for the INDEPENDENT to be informed and in turn, to inform the student body of the progress of the negotiations in which they have such a vital interest.

Now is also the time to go from the sublime to the ridiculous. In spite of the prohibition of the press from the session on Thursday, the INDEPENDENT bears a banner headline on page one, and a twenty inch story, complete with pictures. Somewhere, there is a leak in the armor of the Student-Faculty Committee on Athletics. The press has managed to infiltrate the ranks of the Establishment. We have managed to cut through the myriads of untruths, half truths, and out and out lies, and to arrive at the truth. We have managed to "tell it like it is."

We hope. After all, we did have to rely on second and third hand information, hoping that this information has not been distorted by personal prejudices.

This issue is vital to all areas of the college community, and the INDEPENDENT feels that the student body, since they will be footing the bill for it, should be completely aware of the progress being made by the committee and its members. Since the INDEPENDENT is the only method of communication between the Student Organization and its interests, and the students and their interests (which are not always the same) we feel that the right of the students to participate is intrinsic with the right of the INDEPENDENT to participate.

Resolutions

The New Year season has traditionally resolutions for the year to come. Too often the feeling is lost in a short span of time and initiative becomes a pseudonym for latency.

In the first semester, Student Organization experienced a minimal amount of difficulties in their proceedings, almost to the point of quiescence. The INDEPENDENT hopes that Student Organization does not lose sight of the many problem areas such as the course evaluation, judiciary committee, and the campus drug resolution in the forthcoming semester.

Let these questions be resolved and solved in the year to come.

Sound and Fury

From Abroad

(EDITORS NOTE: The following is the context of a letter written to Newark State College expressing gratitude for receiving Christmas cards from Newark State.)

To the Editor:

This letter is based somewhat on a speculation, that some group at Newark State is responsible for a measure of letters that we have been receiving aboard ship, in this case it is a welcome inflow, as each represents a Season's Greeting from a coed to one of our sailors. At least one of the cards mentioned Newark State College, so I am not sure whether it is one group's effort or a combined effort of several schools.

Whatever the answer, the greetings were well received. I think we speak for all in wishing those kind correspondents the many joys and blessings of this coming Christmas.

Very sincerely yours,
C. DONALD KEMP

Dislike

To the Editor:

Week after week for the past 3½ years I have read the INDEPENDENT and have suffered in silence. Well, after the "Christmas Issue" I felt that it was about time someone informed the editor of our great (?) college newspaper that it is in dire need of improvement, since he fails to see this himself.

Anyone who has been on this campus long enough to know what EBT stands for can clearly see that this year's holiday supplement illustrates it quite well!! I really hope Sigma Beta Tau enjoyed that supplement because I'm pretty sure no one else did! I also hope they cut out "A Visit From St. Price" and paste it in their scrapbook because that's where it really belongs!

Breaking away from the fraternity faction (which only plays a minor (???) role in the publication of this newspaper) there is much that is left to be desired. I guess when there is very little news to be printed, the next best thing to do is fill the paper with practically half-page ads (which the INDEPENDENT does so very well).

If that can't be done, the paper is stuffed with what you call articles from "College Press Service" (which, I may add is stale news). And, by the way, I'm sure glad I read your article "College Students Demonstrate On Campuses Nationwide" because I guess I would have been ignorant of this fact if I hadn't read the story!!

The new year is already upon us. Has the INDEPENDENT made any resolutions?? I sure hope so!!!

Sincerely,

RICHARD MASSRICK

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Your ignorance is showing. 1. Advertising is income and pays for the newspaper. 2. All news releases are original, and the more reports you read of the same event, the more educated you become. 3. Although Mr. Price is a member of EBT, he is also your Student Body President, in case you didn't know.)

Unrecognized

Dear Dr. Samenfild:
c.c. INDEPENDENT

Alpha Phi Omega National Service Fraternity has been recognized by the college. Let it be known that they are not recognized by this council.

This council does not, and never will recognize an arbitrary decision from the Dean on recommendation of a committee which was unbalanced and ignorant to the extent of being able to define a fraternity.

Two actions are open to this council:

1. We may congratulate A.P.O. on their recognition and block their functioning.
2. We may continue with negotiations until we may admit A.P.O.

Alpha Phi Omega Book Exchange To Have Repeat Performance

Newark State's Upsilon Delta Chapter No. 484 of Alpha Phi Omega will again hold its Used Book Exchange in the College Center for the spring semester on February 3rd through the 14th. All students are urged to bring in their used textbooks, records, paperbacks, musical instruments, ie. recorders, etc. Everything and anything, within reason, will be attempted to be sold for those who leave their used articles at the exchange. In order to provide for successful operation and movement of many items, students are also urged to check the exchange for a 25% to 75% savings on all items. Remember — the Used Book Exchange DOES NOT buy any used books. It can only provide a place of exchange. You set the price on your books and the Used Book Exchange tries to sell them.

For those students interested in making a large profit and for those who are interested in selling only one or two books, it might be worthwhile to investigate as to what books are being used during the second semester — they will be in demand and be the best selling. Those students who have courses that are repeated the second semester (especially Freshmen — English, Biology, Health, etc.) are urged to take advantage of the situation and to exchange their books for cash at the Used Book Exchange. The sale of these books will be quite easy because of the demand. Remember — The Used Book Exchange will open February 3rd. Support is needed from students in buying and selling in order to make it a success and for all to profit.

Students who will be off campus on Thursdays in March and April may obtain applications for absentee ballots for Student Org. elections on Thurs., Jan. 9. Applications must be returned by Feb. 13.

Student Profiles: Streit

INDEPENDENT: What does a fraternity look at in a prospective pledge?

STREIT: They should be looking at a person as an individual, completely devoid of what offices he has on campus or what athletics he participates in, and also taking into consideration what the fraternity can do for him.

But, too often fraternities and sororities look at a person from a materialistic point of view.

INDEPENDENT: There have been fraternities on campus next year. Is there any truth in it?

STREIT: So far nobody has approached me about it, although I have also heard rumors and I think it is a great idea. There is always room on campus for a group which is going to make a worthwhile contribution.

INDEPENDENT: How about Alpha Phi Omega?

STREIT: The problem behind APO began two years ago when they first applied to I.F.S.C. and were turned down because of an unacceptable constitution in which they allowed dual membership for Greeks. It was hard to determine whether they were just a service club. They appealed again and were turned down, and the same situation occurred when they appealed to the Dean.

They then appealed to the President who set up an appeals committee which was entirely ignorant of the situation. One big problem is that the past I.F.S.C. presidents never really tried to look at the group and see what could be worked out.

just beginning to straighten themselves out when the Dean intervened and said he had the right to recognize them and that I.F.S.C. could not recognize service groups.

If the Dean had not come in, things would have probably been straightened out by the students themselves, and Alpha Phi Omega probably would be a recognized fraternity by now. But at present, APO recognition is being overshadowed by a larger problem of the Dean's violation of student rights.

INDEPENDENT: What specific accomplishments has I.F.S.C. made this year?

STREIT: One of our most important accomplishments was the revival of the fraternity and sorority presidents club, an organization which helps to better fraternity relationships. We are also entertaining the possibility of holding a State College Fraternity-Sorority Conference at Newark State.

And of course we will sponsor the Greek Sing and Miss I.F.S.C. pageant again, as well as increasing the voice of the Council.

INDEPENDENT: In closing, what do you think the most important thing that fraternities and sororities must realize?

STREIT: Well, first of all, I believe that fraternities and sororities can be the most important things in anyone's life. But I believe that they must realize they have a responsibility to dedicate themselves to work for a more constructive existence. The first step, is to have each group see the importance of the council and dedicate a portion of their power to building a strong representative group.

Parents Meet E.C.'s

By PATRICIA BERETSOS

The Early Childhood Curriculum class of Dr. Handler met on January 2 in Downs Hall from 9:15 to 12:00 for an interesting and unique discussion with their parents. The purpose of the get-together was to try to involve the parents in what the students are doing in class, to inform them of the diverse activities and topics discussed concerning education, human nature, children, and creativity. The meeting occurred because of the obvious lack of communication between students and their parents. After the meeting, the participants decided that they had accomplished their goal and a rapport seemed to have been created.

Let's Learn From Czechoslovakia

A report from Prague which appeared in last Sunday's Newark News THIS WEEK Magazine stated the following of last summer's Russian invasion:

"Life, for the boys and girls of Prague and other cities became an exciting thing. The long-haired beatniks of St. Wencelas Square proved to be the bravest of them all. . . . Pursued by the Russians, they were protected by the police. Before August 21, the police and the beatniks — as everywhere else in the world — were mutual poison. Suddenly the police were 'the loved sons of our nation' and the beatniks were 'our brave beats.'"

True, the choice of the term 'beatnik' is quite outdated, but despite a rather obsolete vocabulary, the article presented a few interesting ideas which may be applied to the present American society.

A severe problem in the contemporary American social structure is a conflicting polarization of the right wing military complex and the New Left. It is practically inconceivable to imagine

"beatniks" carefully and willfully protected by the police in America 1969.

Since a basic concept in history is that one may determine the future from given examples of past experience, I would like to make an attempt at foresight here. If such a similar condition of invasion and violation of basic democratic rights and freedom should ever prevail throughout the U.S., then, based upon the Czech situation, it could be assumed that the heroes of democracy would not be Mr. Nixon's silent citizen committee nor George Wallace's emotional racists, but the ruckus-raising rebels of the American Universities and their brethren of the local state police.

Actually, the idea of yippie and police forces banding together against a common foe is not as absurd as it might sound at first.

After all, isn't the main goal of the New Left-Yippie-Civil Rights Freedom Fighters, and the SDSer's a state of participatory democracy, as evasive and relative as the term is?

So, although separate American factions themselves may argue bitterly and violently over the concept of democracy, if an outside intruder entered American soil with the idea of completely controlling everyone, I think that its stiffest opposition would come from the New Lefters and the Police, even though both forces are acting under different isolated motivations. And probably, as soon as the war was over and an American victory was insured, Right and Left wing organizations would go back and continue their fights for Freedom and Democracy.

But it is just that I think the alone," commented one of the girls.

The road games are especially difficult, from a cheerleading standpoint, for the girls. NSC attendance at away games is usually poor, and as one hard to cheer for a few people."

Outside: it's softer and silky (not cardboardy).

Inside: it's so extra absorbent...it even protects on your first day. Your worst day!

In every lab test against the old cardboardy kind... the Playtex tampon was always more absorbent. Actually 45% more absorbent on the average than the leading regular tampon.

Because it's different. Actually adjusts to you. It flowers out. Fluffs out. Designed to protect every inside inch of you. So the chance of a mishap is almost zero!

More Sound And Fury

We trust the council will pursue the second. However, we do protest Dr. Samenfeld's action.

Before, the decision council was not consulted with as to the success or failure of private negotiations. It is a fact that the students were within two weeks of a "student adjudicated" solution to the issue.

Only this council has the right to recognize Greek social and service fraternities and sororities. As has been accepted policy for ten years and as the Dean himself concurred at the first meeting of the Alpha Phi Omega Appeals committee.

It is the opinion of the executive board of this council that the Dean has violated the rights of one third of the student body and has thereby alienated and aroused the hostilities of this large segment of the college community. Decisions such as this, which negate and violate the right of students to coordinate and govern their activities student unrest and disenchantment.

As angry as the council is, that the administration violated our rights, failed to communicate with us, and as much as many of us would consider taking extreme action against the administration, we demand the following:

1. Any communications involving Greeks and their organizations shall, from this day forward, come directly from the administration to the council president with no advisor or staff member used as a liaison.
2. Whenever a question of the rights of Greek groups arise, the council President will be consulted — before a faculty or staff member — and discussion or negotiation will proceed involving your office and ours on a face to face basis.
3. Any action taken by the faculty, administration or staff of this college in the behalf of, or against the Greeks, shall be done so only with the consultation of the council president.

4. Bi-weekly meetings between the president of the council and the Dean shall be commenced immediately after January 1, 1969, at which time all matters concerning Greeks, organizationally and as students, will be discussed.

5. The council shall be the only body with the power to recognize or withdraw recognition from any Greek group, social or service, thus preventing any offensive and arbitrary acts.

The day of the complacent council is over due to the actions of the administration. Let it be known, that in all such matters, and especially in the implementation of these demands, I.F.S.C. will take any action necessary to insure its rights and preserve its autonomy.

Very truly yours,
JOE STREIT
President, I.F.S.C.

Disapproval

To the Editor:

It grieves me greatly to see the funds of the students of this college being used to publish a Holiday Sadist issue. These same funds could be used in so many other ways. As treasurer of the College Center Board, I would like to see these funds channeled into more appropriate areas that would benefit the ENTIRE student body and not just the "elite."

The spirit of the holiday season justifies the humor of this issue however in our campus publication there should be no room for the absurd. It is high time that the INDEPENDENT realized its function is to serve ALL the students of this college and not the "group" that publishes it.

Sincerely,
DON MERCE

This tremendous win over Rutgers ended a two-game losing streak which saw the Squires drop one to powerful Husson College of Bangor Maine, 104-80, and another to Montclair State 71-52. Husson College shooting well over 50% from the floor, ran off to a 17-3 lead in the first half and the game was theirs from then on. Jim Catalano scored 24 points to lead the Squires in that department.

New Dems Hold Workshop On January 18

An organization workshop and rally of the New Jersey New Democratic Coalition will be held on Saturday, January 18, at the Rutgers, New Brunswick gym.

The New Democratic Coalition is a newly established reform group within the Democratic party. It consists of former supporters active in both the McCarthy and Kennedy movements. The statewide program will be held between 12 and 6 P.M.

Three voting participants at the convention following the rally will be representatives from Newark State College and Union College.

Speakers at the workshop include Julian Bond, a leader of the insurgent Georgia delegation at the Democratic National Convention; and Allard Lowerstein, one of the leading forces who convinced Senator Eugene McCarthy to run for President.

Jerry Bentrym, a junior at Newark State, states that the New Democratic Coalition's "immediate goal is to nominate a candidate for Governor."

Interested students can receive further information from Jerry through M.B. No. 55.

turnovers. The press, coupled with the sudden hot hand of Larry Venancio (25 of game leading 31 points in second half), brought the Gothics within 2 points of the game. Fred Boff sunk a short jumper with three seconds left to finally put the game out of reach as Jersey City missed on a desperation shot at the buzzer.

Fred Boff led the Squire scores with twenty points. George Gilcrest was second high man with 18 points, (13 in that hectic second half). Gilcrest also received an injury in that half. He was knocked unconscious by a J.C. player who was immediately ejected from the game. George was admitted to Elizabeth General Hospital for x-rays and observation. He was released Sunday morning, and should be ready for the next game. He suffered a mild concussion.

The Squires' record is now 3-4 overall and 2-1 in the New Jersey State Conference. Jersey City is now 2-6 and 1-1.

The final score was 69-64 as Trenton scored only one more point which did not come until the game was actually over. Don Fowler, fouled at the buzzer, converted on one of two freethrows after regulation time ended.

Squires Speak

Question — How do you feel about fraternity and sorority hazing?

Glen Mingo

Glen Mingo, Sophomore — I feel that hazing displays immature behavior on the part of some sororities and fraternities. Of course the choice of initiations that are used in hazing are up to the Greek organization. I think in the future they will gradually become more responsible and make hazing more appropriate to the college community.

Margot Green

Margot Greene, Junior — Fraternities and sororities are great if you like to get into a group and discuss your neighbor. Sure they help charities and other organizations but if you really want to do such work why join a fraternity or sorority? ... Just do it.

As for hazing that is completely ridiculous. Sure it is fun but is it necessary. I really can't get a laugh out of humiliating others.

Mary Large

Mary Large, Senior (Vice-President, I.F.S.C.) — I feel that the methods of hazing used by the majority of sororities and fraternities are in poor taste and are in need of revision. This year especially the whole college community suffered because of the uproar in the snack bar during Hell Week. If the Greeks truly lived their ideals of "sisterhood" and "brotherhood", they would not find it necessary to put on these displays, because they would have found their meaning in these ideals.

Joel Albert — I feel that fraternity and sorority hazing should be left to the discretion of the organization. They should consider the consequences of subjecting people to embarrassing and sometimes illegal hazing. The principles of brotherhood and sisterhood should be taken into consideration.

Joel Albert

Squires Win 2, Drop 1

Trenton Rutgers Jersey City

By RONALD I. ANDERSON

Newark State won its first game of the season 69-64, in a come-from-behind effort against Trenton State. This game had great significance, not only because it was the first victory but also because it was a conference game.

The Squires took an early lead, 7-2, with 17½ minutes to go in the first half. The Lions of Trenton then scored six straight points to go ahead 8-7. The Squires came right back with a run of five points, but hit a cold spell as Trenton outscored them over the next five minutes 14-2, to take a 22-15 lead. The Squires then started to play steady ball, pulling to a 29-29 tie with 1:34 left in the half. But Trenton started fastbreaking and took the lead at 34-31 with 19 seconds left. Upon bringing the ball downcourt, N.S.C. lost it and Gary De Gregory attempted what he thought was an easy layup, Wilber Aikens pinned the ball against the backboard with such force that it bounced halfway down the court where it was picked up and passed to Jim Marino who was waiting patiently under the basket. He scored a layup at the buzzer to bring the Squires within one point at 34-33.

The momentum created by the last play of the first half carried into the second, as the Squires exploded for nine straight points to take a lead which they did not relinquish until late in the period. With five minutes remaining in the game and the Squires ahead 60-56, the Lions roared to a 61-60 lead on baskets by Jack Halack and Al Griffith and a foul shot by Dan Fowler.

Fred Boff then put the Squires ahead with two free throws 62-61. The Lions scored again on a layup by Ralph Brateris (who led Trenton with 21 points) to put Trenton in the front 63-62. The Squires caught fire again and scored seven straight points (Jim

N.S.C. ended 1968 on a high note romping over Rutgers of Camden 104-44. The game was never in doubt as the Squires scored the first twelve points of the game and later led by 19-3 with 12:40 to go in the first half. The Squires' biggest lead in the game came with seven minutes left in the second half. Newark led by an incredible 65 points, 94-29, and went on to gain its second victory of the season. The game was highlighted by the facts that six Squires scored in double figures: Fred Boff led all scores with 20, while Cliff Maddox had 15 (his career high), Wilber Aikens and Monte Cosby had 14 each, Jim Catalano had 12, and Jim Marino tossed in 11.

Newark State built up a 23 point lead against Jersey City State, then held on to win by four as the Gothics almost pulled it out. Jersey City took an early lead, 10-8 with sixteen minutes left in the first half. Newark then scored eleven straight points (Fred Boff collecting seven of them) to go ahead 19-10. The Squires poured it on, outscoring the Jersey City team 18-6 over the last eight minutes of the half to go into the locker-room with a 48-28 lead at the half time.

As the second half began, the Squires stretched their lead to 23 points at 64-41. Jersey City began to press full court. Newark had a lot of trouble with this press, losing the ball numerous times on

N.S.C. Cheerleaders Have A Purpose: Give School Spirit

This year's varsity cheerleading squad consists of 13 girls ranging from sophomores to seniors. Wendy Fisch, one of the two senior cheerleaders is this year's captain. A graduate of Hillside High School, Wendy is a veteran of the squad. The co-captain position is presently being held by junior Lorraine Blejwas, who graduated from Arthur Johnson Regional High School.

Judy Steinberger, a senior from Hillside, also returns to the squad. Andrea Mitzak, Lis Katz, Brenda Perrow, Mary Mucha, and Mary Anne Gannon, all juniors, can be seen cheerleading at all the basketball games. Rounding out the varsity squad are sophomores Paula Macasek, Lissa Salmon, Rosemary Rice, Rita Benkovich, and Roie Kretchmer.

The cheerleaders explained that they are here for a purpose, that being to promote school spirit. To achieve this purpose, they feel they need as much support from the students as they can get.

"Other schools with lower enrollments than ours have more school spirit than we do, and the cheerleaders cannot produce it

From The Bench

by Randy McCarthy

Besides setting a number of new school records, Newark State's 1968 soccer season proved to be a winning, thus happy one for the team. To top it all, the campaign even received more glory when the All-Conference team was announced and it was made known that three Squires were a part of it. Clem Restine the junior goalie and Sam Sabaliauskas, a senior lineman were named to the first team, while Phil Heery, a senior at fullback was placed on Honorable Mention.

Clem Restine, who still has his senior year to look forward to, was a solid choice in the goalie slot on the dream team. The Irvington High School graduate had never played soccer previous to his arrival at Newark State. No one could doubt the fact that this boy was loaded with experience after his first two years of varsity soccer. Clem played the entire season in the goal during his freshman year (missing only a mere 33 minutes due to an injury.) In his sophomore year, Clem again went the distance at the hot spot, playing better and better with each new game, and the quick, strong, goalie was placed on Honorable Mention for his fine play. Last year, he came through with two outstanding games for the Squires before he was hit with the broken-ribs injury early in the season. After missing seven games, the Squire goalie gradually came back as strong as ever and played superb ball for the remainder of the season.

Sam Sabaliauskas, a Woodbridge H.S. product, played soccer for two years at his alma mater. Sam started his college soccer career as a halfback in his freshman year. He wasted no time in impressing state conference coaches as he received Honorable Mention that year. Sam was then moved up to the line the following year. The versatile athlete soon gained command of the position in his junior year, being named to the All-Conference team in '67, as well as being the school's MVP in the sport. And what more can be said about senior year on the squad? The record book clearly speaks for itself, as Sam came through with a tremendous 21 goal performance last season. Enjoying his best season ever, Sam was an All-Conference choice for the second straight time.

Phil Heery, another stellar performer, will no doubt be sorely missed next season. The powerful fullback played good consistent soccer game after game. He was one of the main reasons why the defense has shown strong improvement last year. The Middletown H.S. graduate was also a four-year veteran on the squad. Playing his position extremely well, Phil gained respect throughout the conference in receiving Honorable Mention for his work.

When asked about the team's final record of 8-6-2, Sam felt that the club experienced a good year filled with constant improvement, while Phil thought the team could have done better, record wise, if a few conference wins came through.

"The team played up to par," stated Sam "Although we didn't win any conference games, we did play good soccer, especially against Montclair and Trenton who were two of three first place teams in the league."

"The coaching and the quality of the players has improved which naturally helped us to produce our best record ever," Phil commented.

"I guess you would have to say the win over Monmouth College was the big one that gave us the momentum," Clem added. The victory enabled us to play a strong Bloomfield club to a scoreless tie."

All three players praised their coach, and they were thankful to him for the time he devoted to them individually both before and after practice. Sam felt that Dr. Errington helped him in keeping physically sound as well as introducing new concepts to the entire team. Clem felt that much of his and the team's success was brought about through the efforts of Dr. Errington. Phil added that assistant coach Patrick Ippolito also aided the team to a great extent.

Where do these boys go from here? Phil Heery expressed his deep interest in the game when he stated that he would want to teach only where he would be assured of a coaching position in soccer. Sam Sabaliauskas would love to continue his soccer career by playing for the Lithianians in the German-American League. (This, by the way, was the championship team on which his father played.) If unable to play, Sam would eventually like to coach high school soccer.

For Clem Restine, . . . well, "wait till next year."

I would like to congratulate these three fine gentlemen on their achievements, for they have something to be extremely proud of, and I'm very happy to say that Newark State is certainly proud of them!
